Finns Do Not Believe Reds Can Celebrate On February 23 As Hoped

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Special Correspondent

HELSINKI, Feb. 22. — Finnish forces on the Mannerheim line have fallen back about five miles in the face of the waning Russian offensive that began Feb. 1, military auhorities in Helsinki indicated today.

These quarters said that the Finns are now well entrenched in their new second-line defense positions and that the ground given up along the Carelian Isthmus battle zone no where exceeds five miles in depth.

Reds Will Not Celebrate

Thus, Finnish authorities contended, it seems certain that the Red army will not celebrate the 23rd anniversary of its founding tomorrow by entering the key city of Viborg.

(Editor's note: Reports in London indicated the Russians might unleash tomorrow a gigantic drive aimed at capture of Viborg to coincide with observance of Red army day.)

Authorities in Helsinki today continued to deny the Russian claim, reiterated by Moscow this morning, that the Finnish Mannerheim line fortress of Koivisto has fallen to Soviet troops.

Military officials stated that this important "anchor fortress" on the western end of the Mannerheim line is still standing as a bulwark against a further Soviet advance.

Not Verified

(A dispatch from Stockholm said that according to news received there, Soviet claims of the capture of the Koivisto fortress are without substantiation. These advices stated that the Russians merely captured the town of Koivisto on the Finnish mainland, but that the actual fortress on the island of Koivisto apparently is still holding out against pressure.)

Woman 'Mayor For Day' Promises Abundance Of Woe For Aurora Bachelors

(International News Service)

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 22.—There was plenty of woe in store today for the bachelors of Aurora.

To mark "leap year day"—Feb. 29—the women of Aurora have elected as their mayor for 24 hours on that day 20-year-old Audrey Kesel, a petite brunette with sparkling eyes and a headful of ideas.

As Audrey read the election returns which showed her the victor over four other aspirants for the office of "powder puff mayor", she laughed aloud.

"What," she asked, "is the world's most useless thing?"

And she answered herself: "A bachelor."

House Nearing Vote On Reciprocal Trade Treaty Extension Bill

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—House Democratic leaders today fought to prevent formation of a bi-partisan coalition favoring restrictions on the administration's reciprocal trade extension bill. Crucial votes on the measure are scheduled for tomorrow.

Efforts were being made, it was reported, to combine forces demanding senate ratification of trade treaties, and forces favoring an amendment to prohibit reduction of the import taxes on oil, coal, copper and lumber.

Leading Battle

Rep. Disney (D) Oklahoma, is leading the fight to prohibit interference with import taxes, while Rep. Coffee (D) Nebraska is seeking an amendment requiring senate ratification of trade treaties. Republicans plan to propose an amendment requiring bicameral approval of the agreements.

Democratic leaders, nevertheless, were confident of passing by 40 votes the measure extending for three years the authority of the

Explains Reason Soviet Russia Is Invading Finland

Says Russia Wanted Finland To Surrender Sea Ports And Mannerheim Line

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 22—Soviet Russia invaded Finland because the latter would not agree to surrender control of her leading ports and dismantle the Mannerheim line, George Gripenburg, Finnish minister to London, disclosed in a luncheon speech today.

Finland agreed to many far-reaching concessions, "but these were not enough," Gripenburg said.

"The Soviets insisted upon our destroying our main line of defense—the Mannerheim line — and getting possession of our principal port," the envoy declared.

"In addition, they wanted to dominate our only ice-free port thousands of miles from Leningrad, and insisted upon obtaining two naval bases and keeping troops on our soil.

"This we could not accept. It would have meant surrendering our freedom."

Gripenburg appealed for "urgent and continuous supply of materials and man-power," to Finland.

London Hears Attempt Will Be Made For Victory On Anniversary

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—A communique issued at Moscow indicates that Soviet troops will unleash a terrific attack against the Finnish city of Viborg tomorrow in an attempt to gain a great victory on the anniversary of the founding of the Russian red army, the London Daily Express said today.

"The Day"

The newspaper reported that Russian correspondents at the front predicted tomorrow, the anniversary day, would prove to be "den pabyedi"—"the day".

The newspaper quoted the Tass (Russian) News agency as stating that "the red army has now decided to break the Mannerheim line completely."

Ambassador From Britain May Not Return To Russia

LONDON, Feb. 22.—British authorities today avoided a straight-forward answer to renewed report that Sir William Seeds, ambassador to the Soviet Union, would not return to Moscow.

"Sir William's plans remain unchanged," officials in London said. "He is at present on leave, and will return at the expiration of his leave."

The ambassador came back to London soon after the Finnish war broke out. How long his "leave" will extend, however, no authorities in Britain could state.

Two Of German Bombing Planes Are Shot Down

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Two German bombing planes attempting to attack British shipping were shot down today, the British air ministry announced.

Both planes came within half a mile of shore east of Edinburg, Scotland, flying low. It was impossible to see their markings until they banked and dipped for an attack on a British trawler.

Bombs were dropped around the small vessel, but the trawler defending itself with machine gun fire, was not harmed.

As soon as detectors revealed the presence of the German bombers, royal air force planes sped seaward.

Listeners on shore soon heard explosions, and later the air ministry announced: "An enemy aircraft was engaged and shot down by royal air force fighter aircraft off the northeast coast shortly after midday."

Later the air ministry announced that British fighters attacked a second German Heinkel plane which crashed on land near St. Abb's Head, south of the entrance to the Firth of Forth.

Later the wreckage was located in a field on the outskirts of Coldingham, 12 miles north of Berwick, at the mouth of the Tweel river.

Valley Forge Services Mark Anniversary Of Washington's Birthday

By FRANK J. BURKE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., Feb. 22.—Hallowed Valley Forge today was a focal point of America's celebration of the 208th birthday anniversary of George Washington.

Simple services at picturesque Washington Memorial Chapel Hill commemorate the birth of the general who won his greatest victory here in the hard winter of 1777-1778. He gained that triumph, not over the British, but against the twin foes of bitter chill and near starvation.

Something of Washington's fight to hold together his ragged troops during those six months will be told by speakers. But the bleak, snow-covered countryside, the still existent defense lines, crude trenches and shelters tell the story more eloquently.

Hymns and prayer services were scheduled today in the Chapel, built, legend says, on the site of a grove where General Washington often retired to pray. Special remembrance will be paid, too, to the graves—marked and unmarked—which denote the resting places of 3,000 Continental soldiers.

Parallel With Finland

Today's celebration will bring into focus an amazing similarity between the fledgling colonies of America and a tiny, beleaguered modern nation—Finland. The parallel between the countries will be em-

Nation's Capital Pauses To Pay Honor To First President

WREATH IS PLACED AT HISTORIC SHAFT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—At peace in a world at war, the capital of the nation that George Washington labored to establish, and whose public service he left with an admonition against foreign involvement, today celebrated the 208th birth anniversary of the first president.

The wheels of federal government ground to a complete stop as a series of memorial exercises scheduled to last past midnight began shortly after dawn.

Place Wreath On Shaft

As a bright winter sun cast its first rays, a White House military aide, in the absence of President Roosevelt, placed a wreath at the base of the 555-foot shaft raised on the historic Mall in Washington's honor.

The Washington monument ceremonies were to be followed by reading of the general-president's farewell address to congress, in which he warned against consummation of entangling foreign alliances, in the senate and house.

Senator Edward R. Burke (D) Nebraska was named to read the farewell address in the upper chamber, while Rep. Frank Crowther (R) New York, who is retiring from congress after serving 22 years, was designated to officiate on the other side of the capitol.

Other Memorials

Both houses planned to adjourn immediately after the memorial ceremony.

Declares Country Needs Change Of Administration

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A "program for victory" was laid down for the Republican party's coming presidential campaign today by a staunch G. O. P. leader from New England—Senator Warren Austin of Vermont.

Selecting George Washington's birthday to adivse his party, Austin declared that the country "needs a change in administration", and predicted this could be achieved.

To defeat the Democrats at the polls next fall, said Austin, who is assistant Republican leader of the Senate, the party must adopt, and stick by, a program providing:

1. A "moderate turn to the right" in governmental policies.

2. A clean-cut, "head-on" fight against the policies of President Roosevelt's New Deal.

3. Assurance to the people that the G. O. P. will maintain the profit motive as an incentive to enterprise.

Reveal Espionage Plot Is Cause Of Arrests

(International News Service)

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, Feb. 22—A widespread espionage plot with ramifications throughout Holland was revealed by authorities today with disclosure that both Netherlands and Germans have been arrested.

The plot was revealed, according to authorities, after two German soldiers interned in Holland escaped from prison but were intercepted by state police at the Zuyder Zee dyke. This caused an investigation which unearthed the espionage plot.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that a number of protests have been lodged with the German government by Holland against the sinking of Dutch ships and flights over Dutch territory by German planes.

Yesterday, officials said, a Heinek K3 German craft was sighted over Leeuwarden and chased away by Dutch military aircraft.

These incidents caused a sharp surge of public sentiment which is supported by the feeling that the Netherlands national defense have now reached a point where no more "outrages" like the sinking of the Dutch tanker Den Haag need be accepted.

Some circles even expressed belief that since "paper protests" are of no avail, Holland may adopt "real measures" against Germany and that "drastic developments" may be expected shortly.

Extension Of European War To Scandinavian Waters May Be Foreshadowed

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 22.—In a move believed to foreshadow extension of the European war to Scandinavian waters, Soviet naval commissar N. G. Kuznetzov has flown to Murmansk from Moscow and placed the entire Red Arctic fleet on a full war footing, it was reported in Stockholm today.

In dispatches from Moscow, the usually reliable newspaper Aftonbladet stated that Kuznetzov made a fast trip by air to Russia's chief Arctic port on receipt of advices indicating that an Anglo-French fleet had been concentrated in waters north of Petsamo.

It was recalled that the Soviet army and air force were placed on a similar war footing just prior to the Russian invasion of Finland.

British Warships Near

(Still avoiding an outright denial, naval circles in London said there was "very much doubt" about foreign reports of British warships off Petsamo. British admiralty quarters remained without comment on the possibilities of naval action in that area, or on the reasons for Kuznetzov's dash to Murmansk.)

"There is uneasiness in Moscow over the sudden appearance of British naval units in the neighborhood of Petsamo," the Aftonbladet dispatch declared.

"It is not believed, however, that British warships will undertake any operations against the Soviet."

(Editor's note: Coincident with Kuznetzov's visit, it was reported from Moscow that the Soviet Black Sea fleet has completed manoeuvers and returned to its base at Sebastopol.)

See Break In Italy-Britain Trade Deal

Italy Steps Up Own Defenses

Report Shipment Of War Supplies To Britain Has Been Cut Off

BRITISH BOARD LEAVING ITALY

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Feb. 22.—With Italy stepping up the pace of her defensive preparations, shipment of practically all war supplies to Great Britain has been cut off, it was understood today.

Plans for a series of important Anglo-Italian trade contracts for shipment of war essentials to England, including leather, tools, spare mechanical parts, steel rails, locomotive engines, and motor boat engines, were suddenly cancelled about ten days ago, it was believed. Official confirmation, however, was lacking.

The project included agreements on quantities, prices and methods of payment. Britain's part of the deal involved shipments of British coal and permission to allow German coal to reach Italy through the naval blockade.

Italy Speeds Up

Reasons for scrapping the trade agreement apparently were twofold Italy feels that dispatch of war materials is incompatible with the still-existent Italio-German miltiary alliance; and, more important, Italy is determined to speed up her own preparations.

To this end, all other considerations are to be subordinated.

Reports that Britain may take reprisals are discounted in official quarters.

Yet, it is pointed out that Premier Mussolini ordered Italy's 1940 production of lignite to attain a minimum of 3,000,000 tons—an indication that Il Duce fears a shortage of fuel from other sources.

Partial confirmation of the breakdown in the trade deal was seen in the departure for London of the last remaining members of the British purchasing commission.

VALLEY FORGE SERVICES MARK ANNIVERSARY

phasized by Dr. John R. Hart, Washington Memorial chaplain, in his anniversary address.

Adopting the motto "Finland—the Valley Forge of Europe," the National Valley Forge association has been pressing a campaign for funds to aid the nation now menaced by Soviet Russia. Finland's last stand, it was observed, marks a turning point in the defense of Europe's small powers just as Washington's stay at Valley Forge came during an ebb in the Colonists' hopes.

Washington led his 11,000 troops into Valley Forge after suffering two defeats by the British at Brandywine and Germantown. General Howe had taken Philadelphia, 15 miles distant, and commanded a force that might have pursued and slaughtered the retreating Colonials.

Winter Of Hardships

The Americans lacked proper clothing and were virtually without military equipment; shoeless sentries wrapped their feet in rags and frostbite and amputations were common. With food scarce, more than 3,000 men were disabled by illness.

But Washington persevered; he rallied and drilled his men and waited for the springtime. Springtime came—and with it came financial aid from France and Prussian Drillmaster General Von Steuben who helped turn tattered recruits into expert fighting men.

Finally, after General Howe left Philadelphia, the American General broke camp at Valley Forge in June, 1778. Shortly afterward, Washington's men administered a crushing defeat to the British at Monmouth, N. J., in a battle that helped materially to end the war.

Not only on Washington's birthday are services held a Valley Forge, for nearly more than 1,000,000 persons from every state and 15 foreign countries visit the historic site. Many come in spring to see the pink and white dogwood blooms which have won national attention.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania took over Valley Forge Park in 1893 by legislative act and has maintained it ever since. The state park now embraces 1,500 acres and includes the restored Isaac Potts House, personal headquarters of General Washington.

Mrs. Howley's Term As School Trustee Ended By Governor

New Castle Woman Receives Notice Of Dismissal From Slippery Rock Board

With her term as trustee of Slippery Rock State Teachers College expiring on February 28, Mrs. Agnes Howley of Shenango street has been dismissed by Governor Arthur H. James. The dismissal notice is dated February 19.

"When the governor asked for the resignations of the trustees I felt that inasmuch as my appointed term was only a few weeks away there could be no possible harm done by waiting" said Mrs. Howley.

"Much has been said about conditions at Slippery Rock State Teachers College that will do the school and education no good" said Mrs. Howley. "In the case of Dr. Charles W. Miller, president of the school it was a case of 'witch burning' just as there has been 'witch burning' before with heads of the state teachers' colleges. The case of Dr. Charles R. Foster of Indiana State Teachers College several years ago is a case in point."

"One of the difficulties at Slippery Rock is that the people of Butler seem to have the idea it is a locally owned college. They seem to forget that it is operated by state money and is the property of the state. Here in New Castle we are just as much interested in Slippery Rock as the people of Butler county."

"I was one of the trustees who voted to have Dr. Miller stay until May 31 as president. I voted that way because I felt then and still feel that he is an honest educator. When I was appointed I felt that politics should have no place in the conduct of the school and I still think so, but unfortunately that is not the case with all persons concerned."

Mrs. Howley was appointed four years ago by Governor George H. Earle as a trustee of the college.

Explaining his suggested "turn to the right", Austin said

"We don't have to sacrifice social reforms. We must turn to the right only enough to assure that we are determined to preserve our form of government."

With the New Deal in power, said the Vermont senator, the people are not sure the "leftward swing will leave the government in its present form." He added:

"At present, we're headed for a complete change of government—and we'll surely get there if we don't put on the brakes now. We've got to decentralize this vast federal organization of power, look after the rights of the states. If we can assure the people that we intend to do this, we will have gone a long way toward victory."

Advising against "compromise" with New Deal policies, Austin asserted:

"The only way we can get a chance—and we need one—is thru a direct, head-on fight against the present administration. We must convince the people that the Republican party stands for maintaining the capitalistic system in which the profit motive will be the incentive to individual effort. Once this belief is established business will go ahead and at a rapid pace, and we'll see production and an increased demand—and most important, increased employment."

FINNISH TROOPS WELL ENTRENCHED ALONG NEW LINE

terday still raging in many parts of Finland, Finnish forces once more had the weather on their side. The continued snow fall, officials said, would hamper the Russian operations and perhaps seriously delay their attack.

Weather Aids Finns

In addition, it was pointed out, the weather was providing Finland's weary troops with a welcome opportunity to rest after nearly three weeks of the bitterest type of fighting on the Carelian front.

From northern Finland, where visibility was somewhat better, came a report stating that four Swedish volunteer aviators yesterday attacked 21 Russian bombing planes over the far northern section of the country.

One Russian plane was forced down on a frozen lake, it was claimed, and the Soviet crew of four men fled into a nearby forest, where they were captured by a Finnish patrol.

Last night, according to Finnish military dispatches, the defending troops on the eastern wing of the Carelian Isthmus fought a series of severe battles to check new Russian drives against fortifications guarding Taipale on the edge of Lake Ladoga.

Bloody fighting developed and the Russians were said to have suffered heavy losses. Heavy fighting also occurred between the Gulf of Finland and Muolajaervi, where large numbers of Soviet tanks were reported destroyed in action.

One gentleman stepped off the E. Washington St. curb this morning to salvage a nickle he spotted frozen in the ice. Said he: "Probably meant for a parking meter." And he was probably right, for who would have searched last week for a coin dropped accidentally into one of those high snow banks along the walk?

HINT RUSSIA MAY INVADE MIDDLE EAST

see a definite connection between the apparently officially inspired crop of stories regarding alleged Soviet military concentrations and the arrival of a huge shipment of Soviet oil at Constanza, Rumanian port on the Black sea.

Some reports estimated this oil shipment as high as 10,000 tons. Soviet oil is known to have been arriving at Constanza over a fairly lengthy period, but never in such large quantities as at present. It was obvious to London observers that the situation is worrying certain circles here.

In connection with these reports, it was recalled that Russia recently ordered several hundred of its technicians to return home from Turkey. This was regarded by some observers as another possible step in preparations for extension of the European conflict to the middle east.

Virtually all London papers prominently displayed stories to the effect that Russia shortly may attack in the middle east.

WASHINGTON

TO MOST persons George Washington is today a somewhat legendary figure, even though a great deal has been written about him during the more than two centuries that have passed since his birth. It is only the more devoted students of history who are familiar with the real greatness of his character, that attribute that raises him to a more exalted place in the esteem of his countrymen than has even been occupied by any other American.

"There have been greater generals in the field and statesmen in the cabinet in our own and other nations," writes James Truslow Adams. "There has been no greater character." There is yet to be found a substitute for character in public and private affairs and it is because this essential element was dominant in the establishment of the nation that it has weathered the storms of the years and preserved intact its heritage of democracy.

For Americans there is no more inspiring reading than the life of Washington. He will be revealed, of course, as human, a circumstance for which this generation should be grateful, also as possessing fortitude, steadfastness, dignity, courage, honesty and self-respect. All of these attributes were manifest when he was commander of the armies of the Continental Congress, leading what often appeared a forlorn hope, and when he was presiding over the Constitutional Convention.

And they were manifest particularly during his second term as president, when he was elderly and tired, when he was compelled to endure the darts and arrows of Jefferson, when he was derided by editors, bedeviled on all sides, when his false teeth caused him agony and he longed for the peace and quiet of Mount Vernon.

Washington warned his countrymen against involvement in the affairs and quarrels of foreign nations. He spurned a third term in the presidency and set a precedent that has never been broken.

Many years have passed since Daniel Webster referred to Washington as "the mightiest name on earth." The name has lost none of its lustre through the years.

WAR AND GASOLINE

Notwithstanding the motorization of modern armies, the immobility of troops makes for economy in the consumption of petroleum and its products. The first chapter in the European War has demonstrated this. The combatants bought more generously of American gasoline in the months immediately preceding the opening of hostilities than they did after the conflict commenced. The winter deadlock on the Western front has reduced the calls on the great filling station which America is.

American exports of petroleum, gasoline and lubricating oils in May, June, July and August in 1939 added up in value to $127,398,873. For the last four months of 1939—when the war was under way—the value was $127,090,175.

This latter figure was due largely to increased purchases from Japan, Spain and Canada. Canada increased its purchases over the similar period in 1938 by 30 per cent; Japan by 40 per cent. Britain's purchases dropped 47 per cent; those of France over 50 per cent. Germany, once a substantial oil customer of the United States, is now obtaining little or no petroleum from this source.

SAFETY IN THE AIR

As of the year 1940 the man or woman who says "you'll never get me up in a plane" belongs in the same category with those who feared and detested automobiles in their early days. Considerably less than thirty years ago the bulk of the traffic was horse-drawn. Homer Rodeheaver was thrilling the late Billy Sunday's revival audiences with "The Brewers' Big Horses Can't Run Over Me!"

The heavier-than-air "flying machine" drew thousands of curiosity seekers to state and county fairs, it is true, and a small fraction of the visitors went in their own cars, while irreverent youngsters still shouted "Get a horse" ! But commercial aviation as it exists today was undreamed of.

How safe really is flying? That is a question the doubters ask, and it has remained for the National Safety Council to resolve that doubt. It quotes the Civil Aeronautics Authority, in the latter's review of a decade of flying, as saying "passenger safety in domestic air travel has increased 2,700 per cent and safety to operating crews 2,500 per cent.

It is something to know that the air passenger of 1940 is twenty-five times as safe as the passenger of a decade ago, but the story of commercial flying can be explained in a still more reassuring fashion. Last year all the commercial air lines of the United States flew a total of 87,000,000 miles, which is the equivalent of 3,500 times around the globe at the Equator. And in the year there were but two accidents involving loss of life.

That's how safe flying was in the United States last year.

Another divorce in the Roosevelt family is making the front pages. Ho, hum.

Scientists say emotional disturbances cause a common cold. And vice versa.

There is no mistaking one thing—if newspaper correspondents could win a war they would do it for Finland.

One thing Germany seems to have learned one hundred per cent twenty-five years ago: That "on to Paris" is baloney.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHAT TO TEACH ABOUT WASHINGTON

What shall we teach our children about George Washington? Certainly it is foolish to teach them that he never told a lie. We did not need historians to explode the myth about the cherry tree; common sense should make us know better.

Some recent studies have dug up some facts about George Washington which have disturbed a number of people who consider themselves 100 per cent patriotic. But these facts should not disturb any adult student of humanity. They merely make Washington all the more like a human being; they make the sterling traits of goodness of the man stand out more forcefully.

But parents have a right to quarrel with those writers and teachers of history who attempt to magnify unjustly the human frailities of this great man in the minds of young children who lack sufficient experience to maintain true balance and perspective. There were some traits in Washington which had better not be emphasized, which, indeed, had better be overlooked until these pupils attain maturity in age and educational experience.

Don't Tell Bad Things

King David did some things which we prefer not to magnify in the youthful mind; so did St. Peter, so did Washington. Wise parents do not recite before their admiring children all the bad things they themselves have done. Our children just infer that we have not always been perfect, just as they clearly see that we aren't of perfect now.

But there are many traits of George Washington well established as facts, that we ought to hold aloft before our children. Some of them follow:

Washington was a diligent student. With very limited opportunities for education at school, he continued learning all his life. He set himself diligently to read, study and copy useful things as he could find them. Having come into possession of a book "Young Man's Companion" he copied from it all sorts of useful facts and models. It contained samples of letters, deeds, wills, and all sorts of legal forms, information on how to measure, survey, navigate, build houses, make ink and cider, plant and graft, doctor the sick and behave one's self in company.

He tried to give his step-children and their children good opportunities for education.

He was religious, but tolerant of the belief of others.

He was considerate of his relatives and boyhood friends. He seemed never to forget them. His success did not go to his head.

Just Folks

WASHINGTON

"Born in seventeen-thirty-two,
Died in seventeen-ninety-nine!"
Was it that way taught to you
By your teachers as by mine?
Did they ask you to recite
In your class of yesterday
To make sure you had it right,
When he came and passed away?

"Born in seventeen-thirty-two,
Died in seventeen-ninety-nine!"
And I wonder is that true?
How must mortals death define?
Can George Washington be dead,
When so many years away
Men remember what he said,
And still wonder what he'd say?

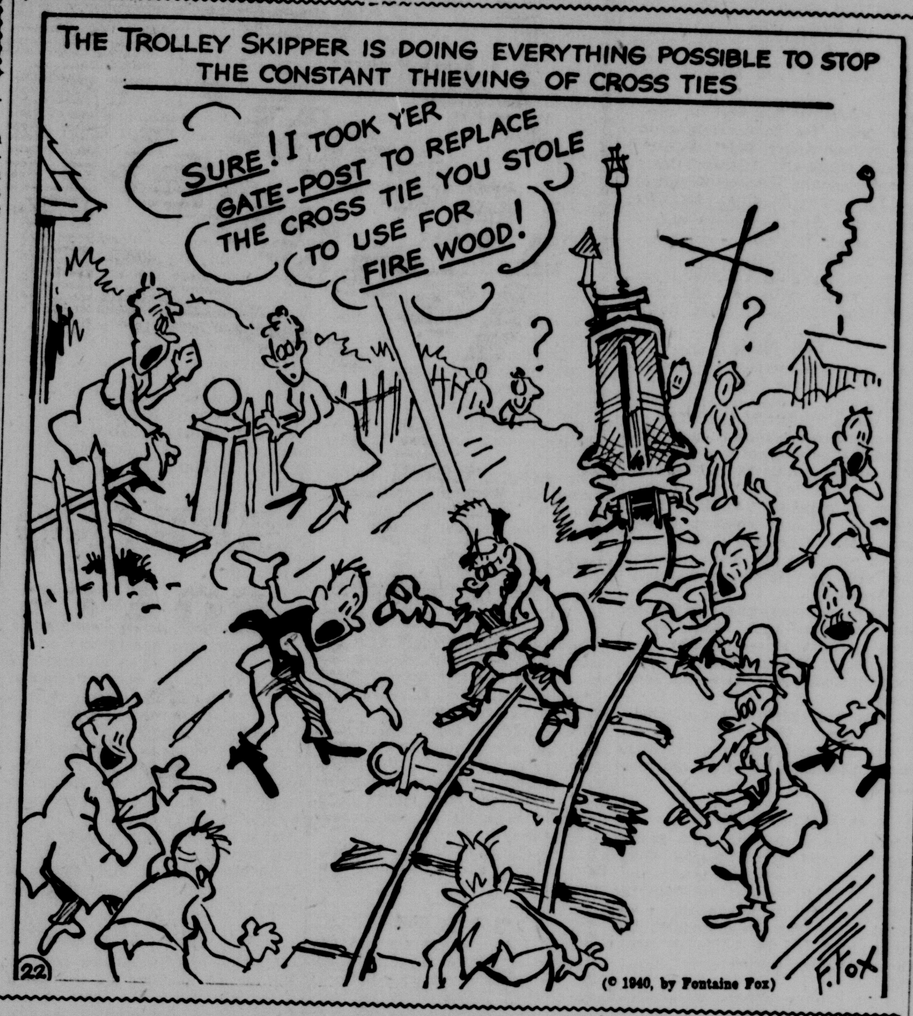

Never comes a doubt to men,
Never rises dangers new,
But we pause to wonder then
What George Washington would do.
And we find him through the years
In what is of good or ill,
In our hopes and in our fears
Very real and living still.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By FRANCINE MARKEL

Today I had an interesting chat with a landscape gardener who is converting my neighbor's little lawn into a work of art. Comparing it with a badly designed lawn across the street, he pointed out that correct arrangement must always be simple enough to leave the house itself as the center of interest. Plants should be grouped around the base of the house and out at the boundaries of the yard. There must be plenty of clear, open spaces of grass, bushes, plants, flower beds if scattered about a lawn overemphasize the yard itself and the house ceases to be the center of interest. This effect you have probably noted at some resort where a small one-story bungalow has been made to look cheap and tawdry by the confusion of jimcracks on the lawn.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: Please help me plan a Valentine party—Meg.

Answer: For your table: A white cloth on which place your very best china, red goblets and a centerpiece of red roses flanked with candles. White cake with "Be My Valentine" iced in red and at each guest's place a red satin heart filled with candy. Two red crepe paper containers—one filled with nuts and the other with mints—might be put at each end of the table. Place cards made up like Valentines with a sentimental verse on each will complete your table decorations.

Appropriate menu: Fruit salad with red cherries in it, heart-shaped sandwiches, punch and cake.

Games: "A Letter to My Love." Have an envelope containing a blank sheet of paper prepared for each guest. Each envelope should have a name to designate the addressee and in the upper left-hand corner a name to designate the sender. For instance, one of your women guests will pick an envelope addressed to "Romeo" and she, as Juliet, must write an appropriate letter. Her finished note should be given to the man holding a letter for Juliet and vice versa. Other such pairs may be Antony and Cleopatra, Dante and Beatrice, etc.

There will be great fun when the letters are read aloud. And then, too, these "famous lovers" may be supper partners. Here is another game: Blindfold your guests and have each draw a heart on a large sheet of paper tacked on the wall. In the center of the heart or as near the center as possible should be written the name of the person who sketched it. In your living room have a small tree, like a tiny Christmas tree, or a branch on which hangs favors tied with red ribbon.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Farley And Martin Make Claims
Democrat Leader Claims Victory
Martin's Statement Conflicting

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A talk with James A. Farley of the Democratic national committee is very enlightening as to the probable result of next November's presidential election. Jim Farley is an exceedingly capable politician. He also was in recent touch with all his party's committee members, from every corner of the country; they met in Washington only the other day to choose Chicago for their next nominating convention. Therefore he's strictly up-to-date. He's communicative and he's convincing. He can prove to almost anybody that the Democrats will have a walk-over at the polls in the fall. He doesn't seem quite sure just whom they'll nominate, but evidently he doesn't consider that particularly important. His party is absolutely solid, he points out, whereas the Republicans are split wide open, so he remarks.

Farley Convincing

You leave, after a chat with Farley, with your mind definitely made up.

But to stay convinced, like this, the investigator must steer clear of Representative Joseph W. Martin, G. O. P. leader in the lower congressional chamber. He'll knock Jim Farley's diagnosis into a cocked hat. After a chat with him, it'll be apparent to anyone that the Democrats don't stand a chance. Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican national committee says the same thing, but Hamilton isn't as fluent as Martin is. Martin will demonstrate to anybody but the most prejudiced New Dealer that we're on the verge of ruin after the last seven years; that our only salvation lies in an immediate change in administrations.

So, if you want to make sure which side you're on, be particular which authority you consult last.

It All Depends

To determine whom you're betting on depends on whom you talked with last.

Or, if you take 'em impartially, you can't tell which is which.

The last one is the one you're inclined to reckon with most.

I know which side my guess is on—not necessarily from sympathy but from what seem to me to be indications.

I'd put my money on the Democratic candidate, but not better than 50-50.

But I'd prefer the Democrat.

I presume it's just a hunch.

Guess whom I'd like!—if anybody cares!

Secretary of State Hull—Democrat; Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg—Republican.

Either one would suit me—Hull slightly preferred.

Party Splits

Which party is split widest open?

Why, essentially, the Democratic party, of course.

I talked this over with the late Joe Byrns years ago.

He was a Democrat and he explained very readily why Democrats disagree among themselves. "It's because they have principles," he said, "but different groups of them have different sets of principles. They can't get together on 'em. They're too conscientious. The Republicans haven't got any principles at all. All they want is to get into office. After they do get in they may quarrel over the plunder, but on election day they're as solid as a rock."

So it is today. The Democrats are New Dealers and anti-New Dealers. They hate each other worse than Democrats hate Republicans or than Republicans hate Democrats.

Liberal Republican

Some Republicans are a trifle more liberal than others and some are slightly more conservative than the comparatively liberal aggregation, but it doesn't amount to a serious split. If anything it's just a little rift. No matter whom the G. O. P. nominates there won't be a Republican bolt of any consequence.

But it's hard to see how the Democrats can hit on a compromise candidate, satisfactory to both their factions. Nevertheless they're IN now and that's an advantage.

You realize that when you chat with Jim Farley. It isn't so apparent, though, when you converse with Joe Martin.

ANOTHER MARSHALL STORY

There are a great many stories told of Vice-President Marshall. He it was, it will be remembered, who said, "What this country needs most is a good five-cent cigar." He was also a diplomat of the first order.

One day when he went to his office in the Capitol, just off the Senate Chamber he found a tourist sitting at his desk, writing. There was nothing in Mr. Marshall's slight figure or unimpressive bearing to reveal his identity, so the tourist, mistaking him for another visitor, went on writing.

"Thought I'd just write the folks," the tourist explained, "and tell them I was sitting at the Vice-President's desk."

After about ten minutes he spoke again. "Now," he inquired, "how would you like to sit down at the Vice-President's desk?"

Mr. Marshall sat down and went to work.

"Hm-m!" exclaimed the tourist. "You act as if you were really the Vice-President."

"That's the hard part of it," said Mr. Marshall, and went on working.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1940)
by The Baltimore Sun

The Confidence Sappers

Washington, Feb. 22.

THERE are within this Administration an extraordinary number of conflicting elements. Partly, these are responsible for the generally messy state of Governmental affairs and the inability of so many Governmental agencies to function with anything resembling efficiency. Partly, too, they are the reason the President's course has not been steady in any direction. It has required an immense propaganda, a great outpouring of public money and a vast army of beneficiaries to conceal the confusion from the country.

THE Roosevelt aides range all the way from hard-boiled conservatives, of whom there still are a few, to the parlor pinks and real radicals, of whom there are quite a lot. Among the latter there is a small but potent group which is frankly against the existing economic system. Its members are not Communists, but they nevertheless believe that American capitalism has proved a failure that nothing can be done to restore business health; that it is a mistake even to try; that a period of economic chaos is inevitable; that out of that will emerge a new and better planned economy with the profit motive absent and supreme power vested in the executive end of the Government.

WHAT difference there is between this and a dictatorship it is not easy to see. Yet those who cherish these views profess to be as much against Fascism as against Communism. Some of them hold important public office and have close contact with the White House; others are small fry who fill small jobs but talk big. Among themselves the goal of the state to succeed the present state is the chief topic of discussion, and it is conceded that the first essential of this program is to undermine confidence in the capitalistic system. The members of this group are partly responsible for and keenly interested in the insurance "investigation" which opens this week before the TNEC.

HOW far the TNEC will permit these eager gentlemen to influence the hearings and affect its attitude toward the companies remains to be seen. Perhaps, they will be disappointed, but among the radicals the hope is strong that they will succeed in shaking the confidence of the vast army of policy-holders in the insurance companies. If they can do that the more advanced of these "intellectual liberals" believe a great step toward the abolition of the present system and the installation of a better will have been taken. And that is their primary object.

THERE are some 80,000,000 of these individual policyholders and they are regarded as the "yeomanry of capitalism". Their insurance policies represent an effort to create an estate. They have a stake in the system and in many cases as much confidence in their insurance companies as in their Government—and with more reason. Naturally, they are not on the relief rolls and the great bulk of them are conservative at heart, despite the fact that in 1932 and 1936 they voted for Mr. Roosevelt. A good many of them might again but nothing like the number that did. The cumulative effect of the attack upon the Supreme Court, the piling up of the debt, the ever-deepening deficit and the vast waste of public funds has chilled millions and reawakened their natural conservatism.

THE radical theory is that unless the belief of these millions of policyholders in capitalism can be shaken, the condition essential to the newly planned economy—to wit, a complete breakdown of capitalism—cannot be brought about. Clearly they are its bulwark. The best way to shatter this belief is to sap the confidence of the policyholder in his company. To this end they hope the hearings will create the impression not only that premiums are too high, the companies too big, the management bad but that there is something sinister in so much "idle capital" controlled by these great corporations. It will be difficult, if not impossible, to prove any of these things, but the propaganda to put them over is already going out.

TO the ordinary citizen it may seem incredible that there are men inside the Government striving to discredit the business institutions of the country in order to bring about the collapse of the system under which we have lived for 150 years. Nevertheless, it happens to be true. They do not control the President and he does not share their views, though he knows what they are, and who they are, and has discussed "economics" with them. They are his friends. They hold lucrative offices under him and they are the most insistent advocates of a third term. Under no other conceivable President would their presence in the Government be tolerated. If he goes, they go with him. There is nothing in politics quite as sure as that.

British May Use Television In War

(International News Service)

LONDON.—The use of television in Britain's war against Germany was forecast today by Lord Chatfield, minister for co-ordination of defense.

British scientists, Chatfield revealed, are working day and night in an effort to refine television transmission plants to the point where they can be installed in reconnaissance planes.

The present difficulty which it is hoped will soon be surmounted is the size and weight of the units, he said.

Military experts believe the use of television would be the greatest advance in war communication since the development of radio.

Invaluable For Planes

Airplanes equipped with transmission units, it is pointed out, could fly over battle areas or behind lines and bring an instantaneous and continuous picture of events to general headquarters. Such a picture of the operations of an attack unrolling before the eyes of army commanders might easily enable them to win a major offensive, it is declared.

Another invaluable use, Lord Chatfield said, would be in naval battles, where planes overhead could bring a picture of the fall of shell salvos on enemy ships to the control bridge of British battleships.

Britain's present television device has bee perfected after several years research, Lord Chatfield disclosed.

"It delivered the goods but thus far is to large to go into an airplane," he said. "We hope to perfect it further."

Scientists Work On Device

He said that an army of scientists numbering in the thousands are working not only on the television device but on numerous other new implements of war.

"The striking advances made in all fields of scientific endeavor" he said, "are fully reflected in the armed forces.

"Nothing which has happened in the war, no partial surprise, has come which is not being fully resolved with the greatest rapidity by the methods we have at present.

French and British scientists, he said, are cooperating closely and the French have developed a new explosive that is far more powerful than any used in the last war.

Moscow Claims Finnish Defensive Fortifications Taken

Soviet Communique Says Troops Take Over Many Fortified Points In Finland

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—Capture of 176 Finnish defensive fortifications between Feb. 19 and 21 was claimed by Soviet military authorities today.

A Russian war communique, announcing occupation of the forts, also claimed that 16 Finnish war planes were shot down in air combats.

"There was nothing of importance at the front," the military bulletin stated.

"Soviet troops between Feb. 19 and 21 occupied along the front, including the area of the Koivisto fortress, 176 enemy defensive fortifications including 37 iron and concrete military forts. Soviet planes were active against enemy troops and military objectives. Sixteen Finnish planes were shot down in air battles."

(Yesterday's Russian communique stated that red army forces had captured the Finnish Koivisto fortress at the western end of the Mannerheim line. This claim was flatly denied by military officials at Helsinki.)

must be good
So many people take it
—to increase appetite
—to boost energy

COUNTLESS thousands of men and women can testify to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought them.

The facts are simple because of all conditions effecting the human body a low blood count is most deceptive. If you feel rundown . . . lack a keen appetite . . . have lost weight . . . don't give up until you restore those precious red-blood-cells back to normal.

S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again.

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways . . . first you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

Try S.S.S. which any drug store can supply and no ethical dealer will suggest a substitute. The big 20 oz. size is a two week's treatment and represents a saving in the purchase price.©S.S.S. Co.

Another "Army Marches" On Congress At Capitol

By LEON W. SHLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Congress, not unused to the uniquely American sound known as the "raspberry" or "Bronx cheer," shuddered today at the biggest "bird" it ever got.

The starlings, which have descended on Washington annually at this time for seven years to give the citizens jitters with their incessant chattering, have chosen the eaves of the capitol, house, and senate office buildings for the 1940 rendezvous.

As thousands of the tiny birds set up a screeching cacaphony louder than a legislator's wail over lost patronage, congress, which has been "marched on" by everything from an Indian midget to a bonus army without losing its grip, went to pieces and clamored for relief.

"Maybe those birds can make more noise than we can, but they can't get away with it," declared a militant spokesmen for the legislators in serving an ultimatum on city authorities to get rid of the pesky visitors.

"The right to make noise in the capitol grounds is reserved solely and without reservation for congressmen. Get 'em outa here."

Starlings are an old story for the city fathers. They have tried riot guns, pebble-filled cans, hydrogen-filled balloons, hanging telephone books, flashing lights, electric buzzers, and W.P.A. workers armed with clubs, in their efforts to drive the birds away in the past. All with little success.

State W.P.A. Quota May Soon Be Filled

Report Negotiations Will Result In 165,000 Being Employed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—Negotiations with the W. P. A. have progressed to the point where it appears likely Pennsylvania's quota of 165,000 men will soon be filled, a spokesman for the Republican congressional delegation from Pennsylvania predicted today.

As a result, said Rep. Robert J. Corbett, (R.), Allegheny, the spokesman for the group, a meeting has been arranged for Monday with National W. P. A. Administration F. C. Harrington at which a request will be made for a higher quota.

"Negotiations have proceeded far enough so that we're confident the additional men will be placed at work," said Corbett. Approximately 144,263 are now employed.

A small group was chosen to represent the entire Pennsylvania Republican delegation at Monday's conference. In addition to Corbett, the group will be composed of Senator James J. Davis and Representatives John McDowell, Allegheny; John Kunkel, Dauphin; Ivor D. Fenton, North-Umberland-Schuylkill; and Harve Tibbott, Cambria. The meeting will be closed, but public statements will be issued later.

Corbett's prediction of a solution to the bickering between W. P. A. and the Republican state administration of Gov. Arthur H. James for almost four months, came after an apparent deadlock marked a Washington trip by Governor James.

"Frank Merriwell" Author Is Fighting Against Eviction

(International News Service)

NEW YOFK, Feb. 22.—George W. Patten who under the pen name of "Burt L. Standish" wrote the Frank Merriwell books for boys that sold more than 123,000.000 copies was fighting eviction from his apartment today for non-payment of rent and assessments totaling $437.

The author, now 74, said that if given a little more time he would be able to collect the money from several writing projects he has under way.

Patten said the deaths of his wife and sister-in-law had depleted his meager savings and so broken his spirit he was unable to write with his usual vigor. Because he accepted a salary rather than royalties which at 10 per cent would have netted him a million dollars, Patten said his top earnings at the peak of the popularity of the Merriwell books were $9,000 a year and averaged $5,000.

Rev. Fulton Giving Last Sermon Sunday

Farewell Message Will Be Delivered In Plaingrove And Slippery Rock

On Sunday, February 25, Rev. J. C. Fulton will preach his last sermon as pastor of the Plaingrove and Slippery Rock United Presbyian church, and on March 3 will begin his new duties as pastor of the Portersville and Mountville United Presbyterian churches.

At 10 a. m. in Plaingrove and at 11:15 in Slippery Rock, Rev. Fulton will preach on "Signs of the Near Approach of Christ."

Rev. Fulton has been leader of the Plaingrove and Slippery Rock churches since August, 1934. During his pastorate the membership of the former congregation was increased by 20, and the latter by 23. On November 6, 1938, 15 members were received by profession into the Plaingrove congregation and five by certificate, the largest accession in the history of the church as far as is known.

Many material as well as spiritual advancements have been made in both churches. At Plaingrove the edifice has been refinished on the inside and painted outside, the grounds have been cleared and shrubs planted, the manse has been refinished inside and painted outside, and the manse grounds have been greatly improved in beauty and practical usefulness. The average giving per member rose from something like $9 in 1934 to something over $20 in 1937, the highest point in giving during the present pastorate. At Slippery Rock the church building was refinished on the inside and painted on the outside and a new heating system was installed.

Rev. and Mrs. Fulton and their family will remain in the manse at Plaingrove until the end of the public school term. They will begin their work at Portersville and Mountville on Sunday, March 3. The Fultons have won hundreds of friends in the communities they have served.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.

Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough remedy and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

NATION WIDE SERVICE GROCERS

it cost a lot to light Mt. Vernon in Washington's day — and it wasn't very light!

candles for ONE NIGHT cost more than your electric light for a WHOLE MONTH

Washington once gave a ball for which the candles cost over seventy dollars. Of course this was an extraordinary expense, the average evening's candles cost much less than that, and yet they cost more than the average monthly cost of electricity to light our modern homes. Tallow candles burned fast, and had to be replaced at least once in the course of an evening. They cost about a penny apiece.

A 300 watt bulb, the equivalent of 591 candles, will burn for 3 evenings at a cost of less than 10c, at the average per kilowatt hour. Other electric current costs are equally low. And the more electricity you use, the less it costs, because of step-down rates. If you are using electricity only for light and the radio, you are missing one of the greatest bargains of modern living. Get the fact on the low cost of living electrically.

Mad Dog Killed By Police Posse Near Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22—Frightened residents of Carrick and Overbrook sections of Pittsburgh breathed easier today with the death of a mad dog which bit 16 persons during a reign of terror last evening.

Cornered in the Overbrook area by a posse of heavily-armed police men and civilians, the mongrel was slain and its body was sent to West Penn hospital for a pathological examination. During the chase, a score of officers and nearly three-score civilians fired at least 50 shots at the dog.

Residents of the area, warned by radio, remained indoors. Most of the persons attacked were children and in one instance W. H. Matthews, 45, beat the dog off a child.

Asks Why Farr Is Out Of Army Flying Service

LONDON, Feb. 22.—A man whose physical condition is good enough to enable him to challenge for the world's heavyweight boxing championship is not necessarily fit to fight in Britain's Royal Air Force, the House of Commons learned today.

Laborite W. A. Robinson asked why Tommy Farr, 26, a Welsh pugilist, was released from the air service. The reply came from Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood:

"This man was found on medical examination to be below the required standard."

Robinson insisted Farr must be fit since, he said, Farr "has already arranged for a 20,000 pound ($89,000) purse fight for the title" against Joe Louis.

"However considerable the qualification to which the honorable member refers," replied the air minister, "this man still is not up to the required standard."

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

INFECTIOUS DISEASES

I am glad to find that diphtheria is another of the rapidly disappearing diseases of childhood. It is still a very treacherous disease if we don't take advantage of the serum at our disposal, but when we do it can be treated successfully.

Diphtheria is a serious menace because children who contact it don't seem very ill at first. The result is that sometimes they are allowed to go without treatment by their parents until they become so weak that there is little hope of saving them. There is no dramatic onset of symptoms as there is in many children's diseases; no sudden rise of temperature or convulsions.

The disease settles most frequently about the throat and yet the child may not complain of having a sore throat even after he has become pale, slightly feverish, drowsy and dopey.

All the time this stage is being reached, membranes are forming inside the throat. They grow and grow and then the child may cough and dislodge some of this thick, chunky material and have it slip down the wind pipe. When this happens the child will die in a few minutes if something isn't done at once.

Sometimes these membranes continue to grow without being dislodged. They increase in size until they actually shut off the air passages by their thickness. Under these conditions the child will choke to death if he gets no relief.

Diphtheria is accompanied by severe damage to the heart as well, and frequently a child recovered from an attack of diphtheria, he must spend long periods in bed to give the heart a chance to recover.

These are the dangers of diphtheria, a disease that can be stamped right out of existence today by the use of serums. This hasn't been the case long. A few years ago when the serum was bulky, it cost about $25 for enough to give a child the proper amount of immunity. It was hard to get too, in more isolated areas. In those days I saw five and six children in a family wiped out by the disease.

When the Dionne Quintuplets made their first movie, they were fitted with a story of our North woods in which a doctor—Dr. Luke, played by Jean Hersholt, battled a bad epidemic of diphtheria. He was handicapped in his fight against the disease by the lack of the toxoid. Of course, many of the events in that picture were exaggerated, but the episodes emphasizing the seriousness of diphtheria wasn't. I know from experience that the danger of the disease just couldn't be over-emphasized.

Diphtheria toxoid is made by extractings poisons from organism which produce the disease and mixing them with materials which prevent their being effective. These mixtures are injected into the child's body to build up immunity. Usually three doses are given, in the arm.

Early in their lives the Dionne Quintuplets were toxoided. In those days diphtheria would likely have been fatal to some of them.

Mothers are advised to see that these inoculations begin at the age of six months. In most communities today provision is made for the administration of toxoid free of charge. An inquiry addressed to the local county or state board of health will bring information about these.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

DEDUCTION FOR BAD DEBTS

Bad debts constitute a considerable item in the returns of many taxpayers and may be treated in one of two ways—either by deduction from gross income in respect to debts ascertained to be worthless either in whole or in part and charged off, or by a deduction of a reasonable addition to a reserve for bad debts. Taxpayers were given an option for 1921 to select either of the two methods. The method used in the return for 1921 must be used in returns for subsequent years unless permission is granted by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to change to the other method. Application to change mush be made at least 30 days prior to the close of the taxable year for which the change is to be effective. However, a taxpayer filing a first return for 1939 may select either of the two methods, subject to the approval of the Commissioner upon examination of the return. Permission to adopt the reserve method is limited to taxpayers having a large number of accounts where credit is extended over a considerable period of time. It is not granted for the purpose of handling one specific debt.

What constitutes a "reasonable addition" to a reserve for bad debts must be determined in the light of the facts, and will vary as between classes of business and with conditions of business prosperity. It will depend primarily upon the total amount of debts outstanding as of the close of the taxable year, those arising currently as well as those arising in prior taxable years, and the total amount of the existing reserve. In case subsequent realizations upon outstanding debts prove to be more or less than estimated at the time of the creation of the existing reserve, the amount of the excess or inadequacy in the existing reserve should be reflected in the determination of the reasonable addition necessary in the taxable year. A taxpayer, using the reserve method should show in his return the volume of charge sales (or other business transactions) for the year, and the percentage of the reserve to such amount, the total amount of notes and accounts receivable at the beginning and end of the taxable year, and the total amount of the debts ascertained to be worthless and charged against the reserve during the taxable year.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Congress today set legislative machinery in motion to kill the multi-million dollar "stolen bond racket" by enacting a law making it a federal offense to receive, possess or sell bonds moving in interstate commerce or from banks protected by G-men.

In making this step, members in charge of the legislation moved to correct a six-year-old oversight—an oversight which has cost millions of dollars.

When Congress, in 1934, enacted its first national bank robbery law, it extended jurisdiction of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to 19,240 banks. By pure oversight, however, Congress neglected to cover the "fences" who handle stolen bonds.

To Seek Early Action

The House judiciary committee, after secret conferences with officials of the Department of Justice, authorized Rep. Francis Walter (D) Pennsylvania to report and seek early action on a bill to cover receipt and sale of the bonds.

"There are people who are in the business of dealing in securities stolen from banks," said Walter. "The business amounts to millions of dollars.

"We learned that these 'fences', who have regular sales agencies, get as much as 50 per cent on the dollar for the stolen bonds. Frequently business men buy the bonds and use them for collateral for bank loans. The bonds go into the portfolios of banks and may never be identified as stolen property."

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, recently informed a House appropriations subcommittee that one of his greatest problems is to find agents enough to investigate bank robberies promptly.

Despite lack of agents, he said, the bureau has made headway in reducing the number of bank robberies. Losses from bank robberies in 1932, he said, totalled $4,503,331. This was cut to $590,182 in 1938.

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22.—James Roosevelt, film producer, and Fred L. Mills, maker of coin-in-the-slot machines, pooled their ideas today and came forth with a new business.

They are going to form a new company and produce short sound films to be shown by nickel-in-the-slot projectors at every corner drug store, they announced.

The new company will be called the Mills-Globe company.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

George Washington might have qualified as a doctor.

He knew a lot about diseases and their treatment.

He was personally acquainted with the leading medical men.

There was a reason for his interest in medical matters.

Washington suffered from sickness a great part of his life.

He had four serious illnesses before he was thirty years old.

He often thought he would have to give up a military career.

He even gave up hope of living at various times.

Smallpox, pneumonia and malaria assailed him.

His teeth fell out and artificial ones tortured him always.

He gave his soldiers the best of medical attention.

On his deathbed he counted his own pulse—and died peacefully.

Two Men Killed In Plant Blast

(International News Service)

ELKTON, Md., Feb. 22.—At least two men were killed, three others trapped in a blazing structure, and 10 or more injured Wednesday afternoon when a terrific blast destroyed the phosphorus building and fired two others at the giant plant of the Triumph Fusee Fireworks company.

The known dead were identified as Babe Gatschell and Craig Reed, both of North East, near Elkton. Their ages or the nature of their work at the huge plant, which consists of 25 small structures spread out over acres of ground, was not immediately learned. It was reported, however, that both worked in the phosphorus structure.

Pardon Board Refuses Pleas Of Three Slayers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22—Refused clemency by the state board of pardons, three condemned slayers today placed last hopes for life in an executive clemency order by Gov. Arthur H. James.

Only executive clemency can save the trio—William H. Yeager, Montour county farmer; Andrew Schurtz, Shamokin, and William Kelly, Philadelphia Negro—from going to Pennsylvania's electric chair on Monday morning.

Yeager and Kelly killed state motor policemen, while Schurtz shot a W. P. A. foreman.

All three sought to escape the chair by appealing to the state board of pardons for commutation. Spirited pleas of their attorneys, including Yeager's lawyer who charged the commonwealth 'deliberately" withheld evidence at the Montour county farmer's trial, failed to weigh heavily with the board.

Unless Gov. James intervenes, all three will be put to death shortly after midnight Sunday by the state's new and youthful executioner, Frank L. Wilson of Pittsburgh.

The board also refused to free Mrs. Elva Hartman Sleighter, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the fatal beating of Jean Seville, 9, in 1937, at her home near Chambersburg.

Mrs. Sleighter is serving an indefinite term at the Muncy home for women. Her husband, Glenn, is serving a life sentence for the same crime.

Britain Reports Fifty German Bombers Lost

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Two German bombing planes were shot down on the Scottish coast east of Edinburgh today, according to the air ministry, bringing the war's total loss of German aircraft to 50.

Forty-one bombers have been definitely "acounted for" in combat over the North Sea or land, and it was believed that nine others were so badly damaged that it was unlikely they could return to their bases.

As the air ministry announced the latest disasters to German aircraft, the trawlers Cardew, Emulator, Cystal, and Aucuba arrived in ports with word that they had been attacked by machine guns.

EVERY MEAL CAUSED DISTRESS TILL PENNA. LADY GOT VENDOL

Vendol is the medicine people all over the state are finding so wonderful for relief of many troubles when due to constipation and need of a kidney diuretic.

MRS. REID CHAPLE

"Vendol acted so quickly for me that I could feel the benefits after the first few doses," declared Mrs. Reid Chaple of 2307 State St., Erie, Penna.

"I was bothered with constipation all the time, and this seemed to keep my stomach in an upset condition. I often had a burning sensation in my stomach no matter whether I ate much or ltitle, it was all the same, and the "heartburn", gas, sourness, and heavy feeling made me miserable. The gas was so bad sometimes that I felt if I could only draw a full breath, it would be such a relief; then again it felt as though I had a lump in my throat which I couldn't swallow.

"Many mornings I'd awaken with a vile taste in my mouth, tongue coated, little spots floating before my eyes, and with a little dizziness and headache.

"Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets changed my feelings, and that is why I think it such grand medicine. It acted fine on my bowels and gave the most satisfying relief from constipation, and since getting this splendid result I am not bothered as before with a sour, acid, gassy stomach, and awaken every morning after a restful sleep without the bad taste, coated tongue, dizzy feelings, or headache. I can strongly recommend Vendol to anyone who suffers from these troubles if they are due to constipation, because I find it a grand medicine."

Most all druggists sell Vendol, and it is highly recommended here by Eckerd's of New Castle, 118 E. Washington St.

News Briefs From City Hall

Authorities here have been requested by Pittsburgh authorities to seek possible relatives here of Benjamin F. Bunce, 82, who died in that city last night. He is said to have been survived by a son and daughter. Pittsburgh authorities said they believe his daughter, now married, lives in this vicinity. Up to noon local police had not found any relatives.

Frank Jordan, youth, 9 Terrace avenue, who was detained by city police for several days, has been taken in charge by Juvenile Officer Jack M. Dunlap as a "parole violator," police records show today.

Today being a legal holiday, no tags were issued for failure to place nickels in the parking meters. In fact, autoists will not be required to pay parking fees on any holiday in the future according to Mayor Charles B. Mayne's instructions to Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones.

Police were informed in an accident report made by Frank L. Bush, Edgewood avenue, today that while driving east on West Washington street he stopped his car to heed a red light. He claims a car with Pennsylvania license 1MJ15 struck the rear of his machine.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Russia has purchased in the United States not only gasoline, but "cracking machines" to convert it into aviation fuel for use in bombing Finland, Rep. Reed (R) New York asserted today.

Reed made his charge after Secretary of State Cordell Hull reported in a letter that during 1939 only two barrels of aviation gasoline were sold to Russia and that the 883,330 barrels of regular gasoline she received from this country went to Siberia and could not have been used for airplanes.

Bought Machinery

"This regular gasoline was 99 per cent refined and I know from my own investigations that Russia has bought from us the machinery to convert it into aviation fuel," Reed declared. "There is not a shadow of doubt but what American gasoline is being used by Russia for her murderous bombings."

Rep. Hook (D) Michigan, to whom Hull addressed his letter, was quick to issue a flat denial of Reed's charges.

"There is absolutely no foundation for these statements, they are just being circulated to embarrass the administration," Hook said, adding that this government's "moral embargo" against shipments of war-adaptable materials to aggressor nations is working effectively.

Buy Soviet Gold

Reed also declared that copper was being sold to Russia for use in shells, and that this country was helping the Soviets finance the Finnish war by buying their gold.

He asserted that similar sales were being made to Japan for its war with China.

"And, in addition," he said, "we are selling vast quantities of material to the countries bordering Germany, and that all goes to Germany. Our shipments to the Allies are as nothing compared to these. We are helping the totalitarian governments destroy the democracies.

Hook flatly denied these statements, too.

"I've heard all those stories before," he said. "It was in an attempt to run them down that I wrote Secretary Hull for information. There is not an iota of truth in them."

Weir Appointed Finance Head Of Republican Party

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Ernest T. Weir, of Pittsburgh, president of the iron and steel institute and implacable foe of the New Deal, today was appointed chairman of the Republican national finance committee to raise funds for the G. O. P.'s 1940 election campaign.

The appointment was made by John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee.

In the announcement, Hamilton recalled Weir's business career, pointing out that he worked his way up in the steel business from an office boy at $3 a week to become head of the National Steel Corporation.

His company is famous for having made a profit every year during the depression.

State To Launch Medical Attack On Meningitis

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—Aroused by 18 deaths from meningitis in the upper anthracite region since January 1, State Secretary of Health John J. Shaw today marshalled medical forces in grim war on the disease.

Fifty-five cases of the dread malady were reported within the past seven weeks in the mining district radiating from Wilkes-Barre.

Three physicians and six nurses were assigned by the state health department in the campaign to isolate carriers of the disease.

HOUSE NEARING VOTE ON RECIPROCAL TRADE TREATY EXTENSION

state department and White House to conclude reciprocal trade treaties.

"We will pick up at least 10 Republican votes and we will not lose more than 20 to 30 Democratic votes," said Rep. Buck (D) California.

Close In Senate

When the treaty measure goes to the senate, the vote is expected to be much closer, and, it was conceded, will be preceded by the bitterest verbal battle of the session.

House Republican leaders conceded that they were making an uphill fight. Rep. Reed (R) New York said that "we are being steamrollered."

However, many Democratic members joined in the fight to limit the measure. Rep. Peterson (D) Florida, said that at least three of the five Democratic members from Florida would oppose it, while most of the Washington delegation also is expected to oppose it.

Republicans suffered a blow when Rep. Bruce Barton (R) New York, announced that he will support the New Deal measure.

Three days of debate on the bill closed amid partisan charges.

Contributions Charged

Rep. Brewster (R) Maine, charged that huge campaign contributions have been made to the Democratic party, by persons benefitting from New Deal acts.

"As a result of a concession made on sugar, certain American interests profited to the extent of $40,000,000 a year," he said. "Rexford Guy Tugwell of the New Deal and others were able to secure fine jobs and I assume that you can trace campaign contributions. Oil interests have benefitted, and I assume that they have recognized their benefactors.

"Through an administrative ruling, Canadian fish is to be brought in this country duty free. I call attention that the family which has a large interest in the benefitting company contributed $21,500 to the Democratic campaign fund."

Brewster answered Chairman Doughton (D) North Carolina of the ways and means committee, who flayed Republican tariff bills. Doughton declared that under Republican administrations the biggest tariff benefits went to the biggest campaign contributors.

Rep. McCormack (D) Massachusetts, challenged the Republican party to write a plank in its platform demanding repeal of the tariff act. He asserted that Republican leaders throughout the country favor it.

SWEDISH GUNS WILL FIRE UPON FOREIGN PLANES

pensation, but there must be some way for Sweden to make clear to the Russians the necessity for instructing their fliers so that such mistakes can be avoided in future."

The newspaper Tidnigen added:

"This astounding violation of neutrality, hitherto unique in the history of aerial warfare, is added to those which the Soviet Union previously has committed against our country."

Some circles in Stockholm even predicted that the incident might cause the Swedish government to change its attitude and lend active direct aid to Finland against the U. S. S. R.

There was nothing, however, to confirm this view, but it seemed certain that the bombing of Pajala would add weight to the words of certain activist circles who have criticized the government's refusal to send direct military aid to Finland.

May Increase Volunteers

It may also serve to increase the number of Swedish volunteers joining the Finnish defense forces.

About 60 bombs were dropped on Pajala, a frontier village near the Finnish border, by seven Russian planes.

Georg Taube, sheriff of Pajala, accused the Russians of making the attack deliberately. He said he considered it "completely impossible" that the attack could have been a mistake.

The entire incident served to increase fears that Sweden may face extraordinary difficulties in maintaining her neutrality. These apprehensions were heightened after Foreign Minister Christian Guenther rejected a German demand that Sweden cease all shipping commerce with Britain or France or face destruction of the Swedish merchant marine.

Guenther, in an address before parliament, warned that Sweden would retaliate by halting trade with Germany if the Reich should insist upon taking reprisals.

Extensive Damage

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 22.—Fifty Soviet planes which bombed the northern Finnish town of Ivalo yesterday disappeared in the direction of Sweden after carrying out their attack, according to reports reaching Oslo today.

These advices said the raid on Ivalo caused extensive damage.

Whether the Ivalo raid had any connection with the bombing of the Swedish village of Pajala, situated near the Finnish border, by Soviet aircraft was not known.

"DODGE ENGINEERING SAVES MONEY IN MANY WAYS"

Geo. V. Sherman, of Station WBBM, Chicago, Tells Why He Bought Dodge

Geo. V. Sherman

"I HAVE to laugh when I hear people say that all cars are alike today," says Mr. Sherman. "As an engineer, I know this simply isn't true! Why, my Dodge has something that no other car can possibly match—and that is Dodge engineering. For years Dodge engineering has led the way in new ideas, new advancements—and Dodge owners have reaped the benefits in longer car life, big savings on gas and oil and the lower upkeep cost."

If you want to know what car gives you most for your money, here's a clue: *4,061 engineers bought Dodge cars in the last 12 months! Men who know a great car—mechanical engineers, civil engineers, automotive engineers—agree that Dodge engineering is matchless in the industry.

But in today's magnificent Dodge Luxury Liner you get even more than great engineering. You get the most beautiful car Dodge ever built—bigger, wider, gorgeously styled interiors and more new ideas than in any other Dodge model!

Why not have your Dodge dealer demonstrate this magnificent new Dodge? You'll wonder how Dodge can sell such a big, luxurious car for just a few dollars more than small cars.

Evangelist Beskin Speaks To Kiwanis

Evangelist Nathan Cohen Beskin, now conducting lectures at Nazarene Tabernacle here, told New Castle Kiwanians yesterday, that, in his opinion, the United States appears to be "the answer" to all of Europe's war-born troubles.

Speaking to the club in The Castleton, the prophetic evangelist said he does not believe America will send soldiers abroad, but he thinks the country will in one way or another play a role in the settlement of the spreading conflict.

He thinks Hitler and Stalin are men of the same stripe, he said.

Evangelist Beskin was introduced by Llye C. Hughes, chairman of Kiwanis programs.

Titans Meet Geneva On Saturday Night

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 22.—When Westminister's Towering Titans meet the Geneva Covenanters in the New Wilmington gymnasium this Saturday (February 24) night, it will be the 61st basketball game between the two colleges. And to make it tough, each team has won 30 games each since February 12, 1898, in their first game, when Westminister drubbed the Genevans 21-4.

The Titans will be trying for their eighth win of the season against Geneva, who was enjoying a mediocre season until unexpected victories over both Waynesburg and Pitt, district leaders. Led by John Billie, sensational sophomore center, the Covenanters will be a tougher team to beat than earlier in the season when the Titans took a 60-44 decision at Beaver Falls.

Aside from a seven-year period, 1909-1917, when Westminster dropped basketball because of a faculty belief that it interferred with good scholarship, there have been but four breaks in the Titan-Covenanter basketball rivalry. Since 1922, two games each year have been scheduled for the two schools.

Westminster has always found it difficult to defeat Geneva twice in the same year, since 1906 achieving the two-victory-per-season trick but five times. A strictly offensive team, Westminster has been able to dent Geneva's basket for more than 40 points but eight times since 1898. All of which points to "the battle of the year" on the Titan floor Saturday night.

The Westminister-Geneva contest is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

Look For Entire Field To Break National A. A. U. Indoor Mile Record Saturday

CHUCK FENSKE IS FAVORITE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—Uncertain at this one may sound, if you want something approaching an absolute sure thing to stake a wager on here it is: That the entire field will break the National A. A. U. indoor mile record at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. Not just the first couple of finishers figure to shatter the old mark, but all five of the entries—Glenn Cunningham, Chuck Fenske, Gene Venzke, Archie San Romani and Louis Zamperini. There is a slight catch to the proposition, for the current standard is 4:15 set by Venzke in 1932, after which the event went on a metric basis and now is back on feet—and—miles—for the first time in seven years.

Fenske Favored

And look what has happened in the meantime, with Cunningham and Fenske as the pace setters. Any miler who can't get down under 4:10 might just as well conserve his energy and not run at all, from the way things have been going lately. For instance, Fenske has won two straight, the New York A. C. and the Millrose games, with identical 4:07.6 performances.

That's great, but will be quite thoroughly forgotten one of these evenings when a Fenske or a Zamperini or one of the rest gets a little hotter than hot and scorches Cunningham's 4:04.4 fastest mile ever run right off the books. It may not happen this week, or next month, but it will one of these evenings. It could even be a four minute flat mile.

Russ Bauers Is Ready To Sign

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—Convinced his pitching arm is mended, Russ Bauers today was ready to sign his 1940 contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

From his home in Lakewood, Wis., the lanky hurler wrote President William Benswanger that he had not held off signing his 1940 contract due to dissatisfaction, but in order to convince himself that his hurling arm was fully recovered from the trouble which prevented him from working regularly last year, when he pitched only one complete game in eight starts and wound up with a record of two victories and four defeats.

Shortstop Arky Vaughan and Third Baseman Lee Handley now are considered the only holdout threats. The differences between the club and Handley were reported to be so slight that he is expected to sign very soon.

The victory made Demaret the leading money winner in golf for 1940, with a total of $3,371, and also put him in the lead for the P. G. A.'s Vardon trophy with an aggregate of 121 points.

A good calendar has been arranged.

Pete Spotti, Diamond Belt 147 pound champion will go against Ted Delarado of East Liverpool. Ted is a good amateur fighter. Spotti beat Charlie Arkett of West Pittsburg here Monday.

Keen interest is being shown in the Benny Bartle vs. Nick La Volpe light-heavyweight fight. Bartle is aggressive. La Volpe is a good puncher. A knockout may result in their battle.

Al Sayers of East Liverpool, will fight an ex-champion of the Diamond Belt tourney, Sammy Secrete. There should not be one idle moment in this bout.

Reale Meets Fitch

Babe Retardo of Ellwood City will fight Al Dundee of Cecil at 118 pounds. Babe has been going good. Dundee is a good amateur so fans are assured of plenty of action.

Steve Morgan of Youngstown, a husky middleweight, has experience on Buck Chambers of West Pittsburg. However, Chambers opines he is ripe for the better class of fighters.

Nick Retardo of Ellwood City will take on Bud Watson of East Liverpool at 137 pounds. Nick is a plugger and rugged.

Billy Reale, the Castlewood slugger and Norman Fitch of East Liverpool are certain to throw a lot of leather. They are middleweights.

Ray Lacisano of Ellwood City will box Al Vankovitch of Monaca at 135 pounds and Roy Crews of Ellwood City will go against Sammy Portland of Ambridge at 147 pounds.

Plans Race Track Near Atlantic City

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 22.—Walter E. O'Hara, builder of Narragansett Park in Pawtucket, R. I., revealed today that he has plans completed to build a $2,000,000 race track near Atlantic City if horse racing is approved in New Jersey.

The House has already passed the bill, but it must hurdle the Senate and then be approved by Governor A. Harry Moore.

O'Hara said he could build one of the finest tracks in this section of the country in about 10 weeks. He has three sites under consideration, he revealed. He said he would finance construction of the track himself, but would be willing to sell 49 per cent of the stock to local Atlantic City business interests.

Sports World Ramblings

Local Sputterings:—Pat Kearns, the major domo of the bowling fraternity, informed this desk that about 12 local keglers will compete in the coming American Bowling Congress. James "Tuffy" Thomas, the fire chief, George Shook and Earl McCormick will be among those on the firing line...W. Ovis, F. Tuscano, J. Hanna, B. Donley, M. Petro and R. Fredericks flaunt the colors of Shenango Township High for the last time on Friday night when the East New Castle sphere handlers battle Evans City.

David "Dutch" Updegraff, the ex-Hurricane center, has forsaken football in favor of baseball. Updegraff, a Freshman at Ohio State University, looms as one of the most promising hurlers among the yearlings. The local athlete tosses a fast ball that has been catergorized as "wicked". The O. S. Freshies have already started their practice sessions, indoors of course. Last season, Updegraff did a fancy piece of chucking for the West Side Tigers. The ex-gridder turned in several sparkling performances. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Updegraff, 112 East Sheridan avenue.

Diamond smoke rings — Here's something regarding the hitting ability of old timers: Buck Freeman, the old-time Washington outfielder, belted out 25 homers in 1899. The record stood the test until 1922 when Roger Hornsby clouted 42 round trippers...Certain players have a knack of receiving bases on balls. In the A. L. last season, for instance, Harland Clift, Browns; Ted Williams, Red Sox; Luke Appling, White Sox, and George Selkirk, Yanks, each drew over 100 free tickets. Clift led the quartet with 111 passes.

The National loop has corralled practically all of last season's minor league batting specialists. The Cubs have grabbed Dominick Dallessandro, king of the Pacific; the Giants have John Dickshot, the International czar; Vince DiMaggio, who led the American Association in homers, runs batted in and total bases, signed a Cincy contract long ago; Bert Haas, champ of the Southern, returns to the Dodgers. Lou Novikoff, Babe Young and Bill Nicholson, who proved they know what to do with a war club, will grace rosters of other clubs. These yearlings may help wipe out the impression that the National is a banjo league.

Riggs Seeks Tennis Slam

Bobby Riggs Hopes To Win Clay, Grass And Wood Court Championships

MADE CLEAN SWEEP AT WIMBLEDON, ENG.

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Bobby Riggs, the national tennis champion, today opens his bid to complete what he considers a grand slam in tennis—championships on clay, grass and wood.

He demonstrated his skill on dirt by winning the national clay court tile three times. He proved his mettle on grass by winning at Wimbledon and Forest Hills. And today he makes his first start for a title on wood in the national indoor championships.

"I think I can make it," said the little black haired amateur boss, who can make the lightweight limit even in his tennis togs.

Has Confidence

"I've made a record or two that none of the previous champions did. For instance, I made a clean sweep at Wimbledon—singles, doubles and mixed doubles—on my first attempt and that's something I don't believe Tilden, Vines or Budge did.

"In the last three or four years I probably won more tournaments—about 15 or 20 a year—than anybody else ever did.

"Now I want to win on wood. After all, if a fellow's a real champion he ought to be willing to play anybody, anywhere at any time under any conditions, just like Joe Louis does."

Bobby may not be the greatest tennis champion we've ever had but certainly we never had one with more confidence in himself. He fairly radiates faith in himself. So much so, that contrary to all expert opinion, he believes he could at least hold his own with Don Budge, Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines or Fred Perry tomorrow or any other time.

Catches Fox After All-Day Chase

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Feb. 22.—After an all day chase, Clarence Wuznik, Lackawannock township, caught a red fox near the barn on the farm of Frank Miller, Lackawannock township.

Wuznik said he sighted the fox early in the morning and, after securing dogs from a neighbor, began to trail the animal. Just before dark, after following the animal all day, Wuznik said his dogs cornered the animal near the Miller barn and the fox was so near exhaustion that he was able to pick it up with his bare hands. He has kept it alive at his home and it is recovering from its ordeal of the all day chase.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Here it is the 22nd of February . . . the day that we modern folks celebrate the birth of the First President of the United States . . . but according to some sort of history society or other we are all wet . . . George Washington was born on the 11th of the month . . . all in all . . . it makes no difference this year when he was born . . . he was born and we are all thankful for that. Maybe the present President will change the date for future years. All the government business houses are closed today along with the banks . . . this month is full of bank holidays . . . the bankers should be caught up in their sleep . . . or maybe that is time when they do the house-cleaning for the little woman.

Last night the street department worked rather strenuously in order to clean certain downtown streets of snow and ice. They have done a fine job this past week and command a lot of respect . . . from reports of other towns . . . all street departments are not as noteworthy.

Here is a part of the dogs that we have on hand . . . if you want one of these, contact the person whose name appears or call the phone number. There is to be no charge whatever for this service.

Mrs. John Heineman, 321 Northview Ave. . . .4 dogs . . . small when full grown.
Mrs. A. W. Hanna, 707 E. Main . . . one large dog . . . call during school hours.
George Sloan, 321 Englewood Ave. . . . short legged beagle hound.
M. C. Browning, East Brook . . . female black water spaniel.
A. M. Stump, 301 N. Jefferson St. . . . 2 dogs . . . cross Scotty and long haired terrier. Very fine dogs.
Mrs. Ted Palmer, 346 E. Washington St. . . . pup 7 weeks old.
W. E. Howard, E. Madison Ave. . . . male police dog.
Mrs. Lloyd McCown, Enon, phone 2815 . . . part shepherd . . . one year old, very gentle and affectionate. Raised in home from a pup.
Vivian Woodworth, 335 Park Ave. . . . female bobbed tail fox terrier . . . 2 months old. Very smart.
Bert Burns . . . can be found at Canteen forenoons . . . 2 year old part fox terrier . . . fond of children.
(More dogs will appear later.)

Little Brown Sparrow Says Nertz On Theory That Birds Are Carefree

"Free as a bird." Well, if freedom means earning your own living, and answering to no boss, then I guess we are free. But when your poets call us "carefree," that is a fib if there ever was one.

This job of earning a living keeps us birds pretty busy, day in and day out. What with searching for elusive worms and bread crumbs and material for nests, there is very little leisure time to chirp about.

And then these winters! The lady next door tossed out crumbs the other day, as she often does, but crumbs do not stay on top of the snow as they should; they have a way of burying themselves. I pulled up my feathers as far as I could, and lengthened my legs, then I stretched my bill down and dug out a few. Trees are pretty cold, too; all night they are. It would be nice if they had their leaves on just when we birds need them.

Those Good Old Days

And times seem to be hard. Automobiles leave nothing on the road but a trail of oil.

Don't think, either, that we are one big happy family. There are capitalistic birds—of our own species too, mind you—who know where to get all the good crumbs, and keep all the good nesting places.

I'm not talking against freedom, however. Nix on sitting in a gilded bird cage all bunched up and having to sing, sing, sing for your supper. And in the summer . . . well, it's wonderwul to be out then . . . but don't let anyone tell you we aren't busy every minute of the time. It would be nice if we could work shorter hours and still get more crumbs.

Chorus Gets Results

There is one pretty sure way to get crumbs. You get all the birds together. You designate where they are to sit, all in a row on a low limb of the tree. You tell each one when to chirp so it makes a chorus. But all this means organization and birds are very individualistic creatures except when desperately hungry. It takes a lot of effort to get them together. Today I didn't feel equal to the task.

One thing more I would like to say. Cats really don't bother us much. We mostly starve to death, although there are a few cat casualties.

Not A Bitter Little Bird

You asked me for a bird's eye view of life in general and so I have given it to you. I hope I don't sound like a very bitter little bird. It's just that—it's just that. . . . Well, take yesterday for instance. I sat on a limb near that nice lady's kitchen window, all in a brown bunched up heap. I didn't say anything; I just dreamed of delicious corn bread and pie crust. But when I opened my eyes, they weren't there, and they weren't there again today.

Release Young Bride Under $5,000 Bond

(International News Service)

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 22—Mrs. Violet Delaney Long, pretty 16 year old "child-bride" charged with the slaying of her husband, was free today under $5,000 bond, pending court action on May 7.

Ben Lipscher, of Wheeling, a professional bondsman, supplied the necessary bond to release the young widow from Wetzel county jail last night. She left immediately for Time, Pa., near Waynesburg, where she will stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Delaney.

Sheriff F. C. Berger said Mrs Long killed her husband on their snow-bound Silver Hill farm last week.

YOUR LIBRARY SUGGESTS:

The other day a man came to the library to reserve "The Grapes of Wrath," and since there are a great many reservations for it, he realized that he might have some time to wait.

In looking about for other interesting books, the suggestion was made to him that while he waited for the book that he wanted, he might read "Factories in the Field," by Carey McWilliams.

This book gives the factual information on history and social conditions upon which the fictional books, "Grapes of Wrath," is founded. It is a well documented book, written by a competent historian and investigator and would be worth the reading of anyone who is interested in social conditions anywhere in our America.

James Roosevelt Denies Romance With His Nurse

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president, today denied a reported romance with his former nurse.

Upon his arrival in Washington after an overnight air trip from Hollywood, young Roosevelt was asked about stories linking his name with Miss Romelle Schneider, who nursed him a year ago when he was at Mayor clinic, Rochester, Minn.

"Are you planning to marry her?" he was asked.

"Not at all," he answered, "she's just a very good friend of mine."

Roosevelt and his wife, the former Betsy Cushing, recently started divorce proceedings against each other in the California courts.

Now a motion picture producer, Roosevelt said he had a speaking engagement in Philadelphia tonight, after which his plans were indefinite.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 22.—On sales of $6,114,497, an increase of 25 per cent over 1938 the Medusa Portland Cement Co. reports 1939 net profit of $412,583, equal to $2.23 a common share. A joint report by J. B. John, president, and P. G. Dawson, treasurer, says increased demand for cement in 1939 enabled company's plants to work 1,810 plant days compared with 1,727 year before. Company produced 32.78 per cent more cement than year before and because of increased production, with benefits obtained from plant improvements, cost of cement manufactured was reduced 11.19 per cent.

During the year the company constructed concrete silos and packing plant at Holland, Mich., which permit cement to be trucked throughout western Michigan area. At Dixon, Ill., six recuperators were installed while at York, Pa., a machine shop and stores building were erected. At the Wampum (Pa.) plant mine cars, mules, tracks and other transportation equipment were replaced with three Diesel motor trucks and semi-trailers.
